Request Authorization for Recuperative Care (Medical Respite Care)

Eligibility tips and recommended authorization process

Prior authorization is required for recuperative care (medical respite care).

Recuperative care is short-term, post-hospital, residential care for individuals who no longer require hospitalization but still need to heal from an injury or illness (including behavioral health conditions), and whose condition would be exacerbated by an unstable living environment.

This service is covered up to 30 days, with extensions in 30-day increments based on medical necessity. There is a 90-day limit per authorization.

Follow these steps for faster review

Due to the information needed to find out if someone qualifies, we recommend using the below referral process to expedite authorization review:

- 1 The hospital confirms whether the member is currently an eligible California Health & Wellness Plan (CHWP) member.
- 2 The hospital interdisciplinary team (including the review nurse) determines if the member qualifies for recuperative care, based on the Community Supports (CS) recuperative care authorization guide, and advises on the best recuperative care provider for the member, based on capacity and member needs.
- 3 The hospital submits the authorization request for recuperative care services for the member to CHWP, along with the concurrent review updates. The clinical team will review and issue authorization if criteria are met for the member to receive services post-discharge.

Background

Medical respite care is acute and post-acute medical care for people experiencing homelessness who are not ill enough to remain in the hospital but are too ill to recover on the streets or in regular shelter settings. Medical respite is short-term residential and person-centered care that allows people experiencing homelessness to rest in a safe environment while accessing medical care and other supportive services.

While at the medical respite setting, it's best practice for people experiencing homelessness to receive:

- Support for medication management and adherence.
- Resolution of acute ongoing medical needs or diagnostic work ups.
- Bridging to primary care providing urgent care services.
- Linkages to psychosocial benefits, including mental health and substance use treatment.

People experiencing homelessness will receive the following array of services in a medical respite setting:

- Temporary congregate housing.
- Group meals, three times a day, including medically tailored meals as necessary.
- Bathrooms, showers and washing machines.
- Assistance with ADLs.
- Nursing care and hygiene support.
- Care management and care coordination for ongoing psychosocial needs.
- Medication management.
- Transportation and escorts to key appointments.
- Discharge coordination.

Medical respite programs also do the following:

- Decompress hospital emergency departments and improve patient flow by providing an appropriate and safe discharge destination for patients who no longer need acute hospital care but do not have a safe and stable place to recuperate.
- Provide medical and psychosocial services in a residential environment to homeless people with chronic medical needs that cannot be addressed in the current emergency shelter system.
- Decrease 911 calls and emergency medical technician utilization originating from shelters unable to address the problems of homeless people with chronic medical needs.
- Create safe non-emergency transfer and discharge options from the shelter system for homeless people with chronic medical needs.
